LONDON, Aug. 2.—Nazi Germany's political mastery of Europe cracked today as Turkey broke off diplomatic and commercial relations in a defiant move that threatened to squeeze Hitler's Balkan satellites out of the war and force a general German evacuation of Greece and the Aegean islands.

Premier Draws Large Audience At Peace River

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
PEACE RIVER, Aug. 2.—Premier Ernest Manning, who is touring Northern Alberta this week, arrived here Tuesday afternoon a half-hour after his meeting was scheduled to open to find that in spite of the fact that it was "rain day", and approaching a busy harvest season with a scarcity of help, more than 150 persons had crowded into the Athabasca hall, and awaited his arrival. The premier addressed the gathering on behalf of W. F. Gilliland, Social Credit candidate for this constituency.

Although the meeting was scheduled for 2 p.m. the Premier did not arrive until 2:30 as he held a meeting in Grande Prairie Monday night and the long trip here was made by car.

From the rousing reception the Premier received both on his taking his seat and at the conclusion of the meeting, it appeared evident that his government still has strong support in this constituency.

LARGEST MEETING

The gathering to hear Premier Manning was by long odds the largest in this constituency.

Armed Negroes Injure Whites

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Gangs of armed negroes roamed a negro residential section in northwest Philadelphia today, smashed 500 windows and attacked and seriously injured eight white persons, police said, as race trouble flared in a tieup of Philadelphia's public transportation system.

The police arrested more than 300 on charges varying from malicious mischief to aggravated assault and battery and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Three thousand city policemen and 7,000 auxiliary policemen were on duty.

Police said most of the gangs were made up of teen-age boys armed with bricks, bottles, stones, clubs, knives or guns.

Race disorders broke out last night after a work stoppage stranded many of the city's 1,500,000 daily riders of buses, trolleys and subway trains and cut heavily into war production.

Germans Admit Rommel Is Hurt

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—A DNB dispatch broadcast from Berlin today confirmed that Marshal Erwin Rommel was injured in an Allied air attack in France July 17, but said he escaped with a brain concussion and his condition was satisfactory.

"His life is not endangered," the German broadcast declared.

Rommel was injured while driving in his car, the broadcast added.

This was the first German confirmation of reports received through front line dispatches in Normandy that Rommel had been injured. Some of the reports said he died later in a hospital.

Few Robot Bombs Hit South England

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—With at least two flying-bomb launching sites apparently knocked out of commission between Calais and Cap Gris Nez, Southern England had a lull yesterday in the buzz-bomb attacks, broken by only a few of the bombs.

Cut Plane Output

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—A cut of about 250 planes a month in United States aircraft production schedules for the rest of the year was announced yesterday by Charles E. Wilson, chairman of the Aircraft Production Board. He reported that July output was exactly 8,000 planes.

King Reveals:

19 Canadians Are Murdered By SS Troops

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Nineteen Canadian soldiers were "brutally murdered" by Nazi SS troops in Normandy, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today in the Commons.

Mr. King said a court of inquiry had been convened by the Canadian and United States armies, and it was found that one officer and 18 men who had been taken prisoner were murdered by members of the 12th SS Battalion of the 12 SS Panzer Division under the direction of their officers.

Mr. King said there was "no doubt that they met their death under conditions clearly in violation of international law."

DEMAND PROBE

Other commonwealth governments had joined Canada in asking the Swiss government to demand that the German government make an immediate and searching investigation of the circumstances and issue strict orders that those responsible be punished.

The Prime Minister urged there be no discussion on such a delicate matter. He added that the next-of-kin had been notified, but

Robot Bombs Claim Total Of 4,737 Lives

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Flying bombs have killed 4,737 persons in Britain, Prime Minister Churchill said today.

Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons 14,000 had been injured, and that 17,000 homes had been destroyed and 800,000 damaged since the German attacks began June 15.

The prime minister said nearly 1,000,000 persons had been encouraged to evacuate London to escape the blind bombardment from the French Calais coast, a type of attack which he often has warned may be only the first phase of a desperate Nazi campaign of vengeance and slaughter.

"The only result of the use of this indiscriminate weapon so far as this (the Germans are concerned) will be that the punishment after their weapons have been struck from their hands by our fighting men will be appreciably harder," Churchill declared grimly.

He warned there was a possibility the Nazis would use heavier rockets against Britain.

Shipyard Strike Still in Deadlock After Six Days

HALIFAX, Aug. 2.—(CP)—The deadlock continued unbroken last night in the dispute at the Halifax Shipyard, Limited, as a general strike by the 3,000 workers at the plant for a union check-off and maintenance of membership in the next contract completed its sixth day. In an effort to solve the stoppage various maritime unions have asked Ottawa to take action to have the Federal Government manage the plant until an agreement is reached between the union and the company.

(At Ottawa yesterday Labor Minister Mitchell said that consideration has been given to the suggestion that the government take over the shipyards, but no action along that line was contemplated at the present time.)

Battle for Warsaw Enters Final Stages

By HENRY SHAPIRO
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—The battle for Warsaw entered its final stages today as Red armies stormed through the eastern suburbs and swarmed across the Vistula river in a flanking drive, while far to the northeast other Soviet forces opened an annihilation campaign against perhaps 200,000 Germans trapped in the upper Baltic.

(Berlin broadcasts said the Russians had captured Wilkovichski, 11 miles from the East Prussian frontier and 40 miles southwest of Kaunas; and Kalyaria, 20 miles south of Wilkovichski and about the same distance from the border.)

Front line dispatches reported a triumphal Russian march of historic scope and speed between the Baltic and the Carpathians, with the Germans facing a catastrophe of Stalingrad proportions in Latvia and Estonia where about 20 divisions were cut off by a Soviet drive to the sea.

Mass for assault
Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's army gathered at Warsaw for a massive frontal assault on the Polish capital while his left wing and the army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev intensified their attacks along a 200-mile Vistula front south of Warsaw to Krakow.

The Russians were sweeping across the Vistula on pontoon bridges, dinghies, rafts, rowboats, barges and logs.

(A section of Shapiro's dispatch was missing, delayed in transmission or held up by censorship, which perhaps dealt with the Vistula crossings. As received, the dispatch did not give the location of the crossings. Berlin yesterday reported that the Soviets had established a bridgehead across the Vistula at Deblin, 55 miles southeast of Warsaw.)

Order Ships Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The BBC said last night in a broadcast reported by NBC the Turkish government had ordered all Turkish ships in Bulgarian and Romanian ports to return to Turkey immediately.

Tramway Strike Set For Tonight

MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Officials of war industries and other large manufacturing plants in the Montreal area today made preparations to meet a threatened transportation strike here if employees of the Montreal Tramways Company stage a strike which is scheduled for midnight tonight.

Announcement that the strike deadline had been set was made last night by J. E. McGuire, national secretary of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.B.R.E.) shortly after the official count of a strike vote showed 3,500 ballots in favor of the walkout and only 78 against.

Permit Distillers To Resume Output Of Potable Spirits

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Canadian distilleries will be permitted to revert to the manufacture of potable spirits from time to time between now and the end of the year, Munitions Minister Howe said yesterday.

This is in line with action taken by the United States government which has allowed the distilleries in that country to make potable alcohol for one month beginning yesterday. In Canada, however, the holiday to make liquors to go into bond will be staggered, possibly a week at a time, and not all distilleries will receive the same weeks.

Trade Vital Need

Export Views Of CCF Would Hurt Farmers

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Denouncing the CCF party because of their views on the question of foreign markets, Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor Progressive party, declared in an address at a campaign meeting here last night that the future of Canadian agriculture is dependent on whether or not the Dominion will have outlets for her vast agricultural production after the war.

"The CCF claims that we do not need foreign markets," he said. He was speaking on behalf of the Labor Progressive party candidate in the Lethbridge constituency, Eugene A. Scully.

Pointing out that the Canadian farmer works chiefly for the foreign trade, Mr. Buck asserted that the Dominion at the present time is the greatest single hog producer in the world, raising far more than could be consumed in the country.

WOULD CUT OFF JOBS

Canada also produces huge quantities of wheat and lumber, much more than is required by the home markets. Eighty-three per cent of the world's asbestos is supplied by Canada, while only seven per cent of this amount is required to meet the needs of the country. Approximately 40,000 men would be thrown out of a job if Canada's foreign trade were cut off.

New President Mannerheim Chosen To "Save Finland"

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Aged Marshal Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, commander-in-chief of Finland's armed forces, last night accepted parliament's call to the presidency succeeding Risto Rytty and opening the way for formation of a "peace government."

Thus again as after the First Great War, the Finns turned to their No. 1 soldier to save the country.

The Finnish parliament met five times during the day in the face of the crisis resulting from the Russian advance to the Baltic which threatens to cut Finland off from her ally, Germany.

Rytty's resignation in effect cancels his pact with Germany in which he promised Finland would not make a separate peace. As the pact depended solely on Rytty's signature because parliament was not consulted.

Rytty in his letter of resignation, dated Aug. 1, said civil and military powers ought to be concentrated in one person because of "the hard and dangerous conditions" in which Finland finds itself. Secondly, he said, his health had been affected.

Mannerheim took over the presidency after parliament had adopted a special decree legalizing his succession without an election, an announcement in Helsinki stated.

War May End "Much Sooner" Than He Thought, House Told

By LEWIS HAWKINS

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today he felt that the final end of the war against the Axis would come sooner, perhaps much sooner, than he once expected.

"On every battle front all over the world," he told the House of Commons, "the armies of Germany and Japan are recoiling . . . I am increasingly led to feel that the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—than I had at one time supposed."

He mentioned no dates. But confident and cheerful, he sketched bright pictures of a swiftly approaching victory. He spoke one hour and 45 minutes before the house, which had just voted itself a seven-week holiday.

Aside from the Japanese reference, the most definite statement he made on this score was:

"I fear greatly the raising of false hopes, but I no longer feel bound to deny that victory may come perhaps soon."

In the same vein he said that "one cannot take more than a sweeping glance of the world war as it approaches the end of its fifth year and as it approaches perhaps its closing stage."

TEHERAN AGREEMENT

The Prime Minister disclosed that the Normandy invasion and the coordinated Red army offensive resulted from an agreement with Premier Stalin at Teheran.

Speaking of the Normandy fighting, he said the Canadians, with the British forces, had taken "our full share in fierce and prolonged conflicts."

"We have fulfilled the indispensable part which was assigned to us by the supreme commander and under him by Gen. Montgomery," he added. "Losses of the British and Canadian forces together were about equal to those of the larger United States forces in proportion."

335 Candidates Are Nominated For Quebec Vote

MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Three hundred and thirty-five candidates placed their names on official nomination papers yesterday in the fight for 91 seats in Quebec general elections Aug. 8—the greatest number ever to enter a provincial election battle in Quebec.

When nominations had been completed in 90 of the ridings yesterday afternoon, the Liberal government was represented in every riding except Charlevoix-Saguenay—where nominations remain open until Aug. 10—while the Union Nationale had candidates in every constituency.

8th Army Units Advance in Italy

ROME, Aug. 2.—British 8th Army troops hammered out small gains all along a 21-mile front below Florence today in the bitterest hand-to-hand fighting since Cassino.

New Zealand and South African veterans spearheading the assault against the southwestern and southern outskirts of Florence ran into savage opposition yesterday, and their gains were measured in yards after a day of desperate hill fighting.

Farther to the east, enemy resistance slackened as the Germans pulled back toward the city in an apparent line-straightening operation forced by the Allied gains on the west flank.

(The German Transocean News Agency said Allied field guns began shelling Florence today, hitting the southern and western sectors of the city.)

The Allied headquarters communique did not mention fighting around Pisa, 40 miles west of Florence, which the Germans said yesterday they had evacuated.

Bondholders Turn Down Suggestion

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Province of Alberta Bond and Stockholders' Protective Committee for Great Britain has told Alberta Premier Ernest Manning that it cannot accept the premier's "suggestion" that the province is "entitled to demand and enforce a reduction in interest terms of its existing loan contracts."

The text of the committee's letter to Mr. Manning, released here tonight, was in reply to one written by him March 31 to the committee in which he was reported to have said that Alberta was entitled to the reduction because "interest rates generally have gone down and there is a substantial amount of re-funding being done at considerably lower rates than four per cent."

Allies Stab Deep Into Nazi Lines

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Multiple prongs of British and American armored forces stabbed deeply into twisted German lines today, striding toward Brest and Rennes in Brittany, breaking out in the centre and threatening to circle three huge pockets of the enemy.

"Political Trick"

James Claims "Doubles" Used By Opposition

Charge that "political doubles" were being used by opposition parties in the Alberta election campaign was made Tuesday night by N. S. James, Social Credit candidate in the Edmonton riding, when he addressed a well-attended campaign meeting in West Jasper Place school.

Other government candidates who also spoke at the meeting were J. B. Gillies, H. D. Carrigan, and Orvis A. Kennedy.

Sharply rapping the type of election campaign being conducted by the opposition in the province, which he said, "is nothing but accusations, distortions and twisting of the truth" in an effort to belittle the government, Mr. James said opposition speakers were appearing in the place of candidates who "were neither good speakers or politicians," and "that no attempt was made to inform the public that they were not candidates."

APPEAR AT ROCKY

Mr. James claimed two "political doubles" were being used in the Rocky Mountain House riding, one of whom was from Calgary and the other from British Columbia.

Mayor Says: Ottawa Cabinet In Discussion Of City Housing

War Committee of the Canadian cabinet at Ottawa was scheduled Wednesday to deal with the serious housing situation in Edmonton, according to word received here from Ottawa by Mayor John W. Fry.

This was disclosed Wednesday by the mayor, who at the same time revealed contents of a letter to Dominion government officials, in which he recommended immediate steps by the government to obtain possession of premises being vacated and about to be vacated by the United States Army and other American agencies.

In his letter the mayor recommended that Wartime Housing Ltd., renovate and repair office premises vacated by the U.S. authorities as the most sensible and speediest manner of providing immediate relief to citizens of Edmonton.

only the Germans in Brittany with encirclement.

A powerful American thrust up the See river to Cues, 13 miles east of Avranches, also threatened to pocket Germans between there and the British forces four miles north of Vire. Sixteen miles separated the American and British spearheads, which, if joined, would trap all the enemy in the Tassy, Torgni, Percy and Villedieu areas.

The break in the centre of the Germans' line by Lt.-Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's British threatened to engulf the remainder of enemy defences which had suffered the loss of 20,000 prisoners in a week and the destruction or near destruction of a dozen divisions.

Positions were unchanged on the Canadian front in the Orne valley where the Germans were strongly resisting pressure on Tilly La Campegne, south of Caen.

A front dispatch said German defences in this area, already extremely heavy, were being further built up.

GERMANS RETREAT

Another front dispatch said German troops were stumbling back in retreat north of Villedieu-Bois, the keystone of the enemy defence perimeter in the Caumont sector. Due south of Caumont British armored patrols were dashing beyond captured Le Beny Bocage in the area just north of the key communications city of Vire.

A British staff officer on that front said:

"Rommel must stand and fight on high ground between Villedieu-Bois and Caen, and I think we shall destroy him there. He expressed belief that Field Marshal Rommel was facing disaster."

Driving east from Le Beny Bocage British tanks seized a "sausage feature" spur shown on the map at hill 266. Simultaneously other British columns farther north stormed Andevy and gained all the high ground east of the Homme woods. Germans still fighting in the woods now have only a narrow escape corridor to the south.

TANKS PAN OUT

Two American armored spearheads were fanning out south of Avranches. The Americans slashing forward in Brittany had not yet encountered notable organized opposition. They swept through Ontonson, 11 miles southwest of Avranches. The second spearhead pushing toward the interior of France captured Montgoire, seven miles southwest of Avranches.

Some twenty miles to the northeast, the hotly contested Norman cities of Percy and Tassy Sur Vire fell while Villedieu Les Poetes, which already has been by-passed, was being cleared.

Along the eastern hinge of the Allied line south of Caen powerful, elite German forces were offering the most resolute resistance of the whole campaign against Canadians trying to retake Tilly La Campegne.

The Germans have two broad, massed belts of machine-guns and tanks and lines of mortar and artillery batteries. Between these two lines a third and intermediate line of similar strength is being fixed.

Half-Hearted Dividend Seen In Allowances

William Aberhart, the first Alberta Social Credit leader, who died last year, had been convinced of the need of a sympathetic federal government being elected to further the Social Credit cause. But he had died before he could complete the work of expanding the movement he proposed.

"In Ontario in the last provincial election the CCF garnered the harvest of our work," Mr. Low contended. The CCF now is the second largest party in the Ontario legislature.

"Social Credit organizers have been in that province recently and they have found a ready response with people asking why they did not come earlier so that they could have recorded their votes for Social Credit in the election."

If Alberta could demonstrate to the world it could set the socialist movement "back on its heels" support would come from quarters which had opposed it in the past, such as the heads of important businesses in eastern Canada, who could make their contributions to Social Credit "with no strings attached."

TO FIGHT CCF

In British Columbia, Social Crediters would not allow "the CCF to pass" in the next provincial election. There were 70,000 Social Crediters in Saskatchewan to carry out organization work for the next federal election.

"I have no ambitions to be Prime Minister but I am going to fight to the last to see the job done by someone," Mr. Low said.

Social Credit was looked on as a force for Canadian unity in Quebec and "you can't govern Canada today unless you have the support of Quebec."

Mr. Low, Alberta provincial treasurer, said the debt position of the province had been improved by acts of the Social Credit administration. The required money would be available for construction of tourist roads and similar projects for the benefit of the province.

Dr. Robinson asked for co-operation of the entire community in ensuring irrigation projects in southeastern Alberta were developed as rapidly as possible, without irrigation. The future of the district was uncertain.

19 Canadians Are Murdered By SS Troops

the names would not be published.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader said it was pretty hard to keep quiet under the circumstances.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said he joined in protest over the murder of the Canadian soldiers.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

Text of Mr. King's statement follows:

Mr. Speaker, I would ask for the attention of the house to a statement that I am about to make. It is my sad duty this morning to inform honorable members of the circumstances in which 19 members of the Canadian forces were killed in Normandy. What I have to say is apart altogether from any other matter of a like nature to which I have previously made reference.

In the early days of the invasion, it was reported to the supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force that some Canadian soldiers had been shot after capture by the enemy. At the request of the Canadian commander, a court of inquiry composed of officers of the British, United States and Canadian armies was promptly convened.

That court has now reported, after most careful investigations, that one Canadian officer and 18 Canadian other ranks, who had been taken prisoner by, and were in the custody of, the German army were murdered by members of the 12 SS Reconnaissance Battalion of the 12th SS Panzer Division, under the direction of certain of their officers. These Canadian soldiers had the status of prisoners of war and as such were entitled to protection. There is no doubt that they met their deaths in a manner and under circumstances clearly in violation of the well-recognized laws and usages of war and of the provisions of the international conventions on the treatment of prisoners of war.

In short, they were wilfully murdered by members of the enemy's forces.

The other governments of the Commonwealth have joined with the Canadian government in a request to the Swiss government that the results of the inquiry by the court be brought to the attention of the German government, that a demand be made on the German government for an immediate and searching investigation and that the German officers and men responsible be punished.

The governments of the Commonwealth have also asked the Swiss government to demand that the German government promulgate strict orders to prevent in future a repetition of such an occurrence.

As I have said we have put the findings of the court into the hands of the protecting power. We have asked them to take appropriate action in the circumstances. This is all that I am able to say on this subject at the moment. There is nothing more that can usefully be said at this time and I hope honorable members will understand the desirability of avoiding unnecessary discussion.

I shall conclude simply with the statement that this house humbly pays its sincere tribute to the valor and honor of the dead and expresses its deep and heartfelt sympathy to the families who have been so sadly bereaved. I may say that the next-of-kin have been notified, but that no names are being published.

Refuse Licenses

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—The government has adopted the policy of refusing to grant any licenses to new companies who seek to enter the small loans field. Finance Minister Liley told the Commons banking committee yesterday. A number of applications had been turned down.

All this money did not go into oil development. We can prove it didn't.

A C.C.F. government will not waste the people's money in the reckless drilling of hundreds of holes in the ground with no thought in mind but to get sucker money in the sale of shares. The oil companies' figures show the waste of capitalist development. Development with the view to getting oil efficiently would have saved many millions of somebody's money. We suggest that the waste was in the money of the little fellows while the big boys got the oil.

WHY?

Almost all Canada's oil production is in Alberta, yet we pay as much or more for oil and gas as any province in Canada.

WHY?

other Wartime Housing Ltd., building program to provide dwellings at approximately $3,000 a house, will not help to ease the urgent situation existing at present, the mayor pointed out.

Labor and materials cannot be obtained for even the present building program and it would be at least a year before new houses would be available for occupancy, Mayor Fry said.

The mayor suggested that dominion government officials ask Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, VD, special commissioner for Northwest projects, to negotiate with the U.S. authorities with a view to the Dominion government taking early possession of premises soon to be vacated here.

SENDS ESTIMATE

The city architect has sent an estimate of the costs of making over office quarters for the use of Edmontonians in need of housing.

Mayor Fry pointed out that the Jesuit College, now used as headquarters of the Northwest Service Command, will be vacated within 60 days. This building could be converted into suites quite easily.

The same is true of the Bechtel-Price Callahan building at 115 street and Jasper avenue.

The mayor stated he understands this building will be vacated by spring.

HOLDS TITLE

The Dominion government holds title to the property on which the Jesuit College stands and the city owns the property on which the BPC building was erected. The city would be willing to allow the land to be used rent free if the government would take over the conversion of the buildings to suites, the mayor said.

Some U.S. buildings have already been taken over by the city for relief in the present housing shortage.

Federal Vote In November Now Possible

By R. K. CARNEGIE

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—In the first move to prepare for the forthcoming Dominion general election, the government yesterday announced the names of seven special returning officers who will conduct voting among members of the forces overseas.

This makes it possible for Prime Minister Mackenzie King to call an election in November because election officials have made known that it would be somewhat less than four months after these returning officers were appointed before an election could be held. That time would be required to build up necessary election machinery.

TO START IMMEDIATELY

While the official announcement made clear that the naming of the special returning officers did "not necessarily" mean an early election. Reports around parliament hill last night had it that some of the appointees who have to travel long distances have been ordered to start for their respective fields immediately.

The announcement has tended to revive rumors in circulation some days ago that Mr. King would indicate when the next election would be held when he addresses a complimentary dinner given in his honor next Monday night on the 25th anniversary of his assuming national leadership of the Liberal party.

The seven special returning officers will cover most of the globe, including the fighting forces in United Kingdom, France, Italy, the Middle East, the Far East including India and Australia, the West Indies and Newfoundland.

OFFICERS APPOINTED

The special returning officers and the voting territories they will supervise follow:

Maj. F. R. Palmer, St. Thomas, Ont.—United Kingdom.
Capt. W. R. Giroux, Strathmore, Que.—Mainland of France under United Nations control.
Capt. W. R. Webster, Victoria—Italy and islands of Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica;
John C. Hill, Regina—Egypt, Africa and Libya;
Sqn. Ldr. John M. McPherson, Meaford, Ont.—Far East comprising Australia and India;
Capt. Charles A. McLennan, Truro, N.S.—British West Indies;
D. Lorne Cameron, Manitoa, Man.—Newfoundland.

Explaining that the appointment of the special returning officers did not necessarily mean an early election, the statement said:

"A large number of Canadians are stationed with British and other Allied units in every theatre of war. Unless the special returning officers are on duty in their respective voting territories long before a general election is ordered it will be impossible for them to make the necessary inquiries and to take the necessary steps to ensure that each of such Canadian electors exercises his franchise at the next general election if he so desires."

Capt. Webster is sergeant at arms at the British Columbia legislature. He acted in 1941 as special returning officer for the taking of the votes of the members of the active service forces at the general election held in that province.

markets for newspaper were cut off, he said.

The CCF speakers contend that those people returning to peace-time work after the war will be employed on public works projects, he said, but it is well known by anyone who has made the slightest study of economics that public works can not employ more than 10 per cent of the productive capacity of the country without impairing the standard of living.

Two million Canadians will be returning to peaceful work at the end of the war and they cannot all be employed in public works, he said.

CCF leaders will not admit that there can be full employment after the war, but preach that it can be gained only gradually under the socialization of the country by the CCF.

"We will be living under capitalism for a few years after the war is over," Mr. Buck said. Canada must be prepared to advance under this capitalism and remain strong so as to be able to make the most of socialism when it is finally achieved in the Dominion.

Discussing the question of Socialism and public ownership, he pointed out that it was not a new thing in the country, but that it had been enjoyed here in some small measure for many years, and is receiving more consideration in the world as time goes on.

"Sooner or later the people of Canada will realize that abundance and security for all can be achieved under socialism, and it will be introduced by Canadians in a Canadian way," he said.

Refuting the charge of the Manning government that state ownership meant state dictatorship, Mr. Buck declared that there are countless projects and industries owned and operated by the government, including many war factories, that are proving their worth every day.

THEY CAN'T TELL US . . .

THIS IS OUR ANSWER TO THE OIL COMPANIES

A Challenge to Produce the Proof!

The oil companies of Alberta in a large advertising display in all the daily newspapers have implied that the figures being used by the C.C.F. in respect to oil are not accurate. Yet they failed to challenge or disprove one single statement we have made.

We have evidence to support everything we have said. We challenge the oil companies to cite any single specific instance where the C.C.F. figures are incorrect.

They quoted figures to show that the oil industry has lost $18,000,000 in Alberta. If so, why are they not anxious that we should take this "white elephant" off their hands?

We challenge every figure the oil companies used in the computation of income and expense in their advertisement. They were presented in even thousands of dollars. Genuine statistics just do not come this way. We charge these were just somebody's guess. Why did they not quote their source?

To arrive at a loss they counted as expense the cost of drilling all the holes that the promoters knew had little chance of getting oil. They charged capital items such as equipment which they still have in use and which the oil has paid for.

All this money did not go into oil development. We can prove it didn't.

A C.C.F. government will not waste the people's money in the reckless drilling of hundreds of holes in the ground with no thought in mind but to get sucker money in the sale of shares. The oil companies' figures show the waste of capitalist development. Development with the view to getting oil efficiently would have saved many millions of somebody's money. We suggest that the waste was in the money of the little fellows while the big boys got the oil.

WHY?

Almost all Canada's oil production is in Alberta, yet we pay as much or more for oil and gas as any province in Canada.

WHY?

The Oil Companies' advertisements are paid for from oil profits. The C.C.F. ads are paid for by people like you. They cost a lot. Send your contributions to the C.C.F., 10010 102 St., Edmonton.

the OIL COMPANIES Are Losing Their Shirts in Alberta

WHOSE OIL IS IT?

Spokesmen for the government and the oil companies are telling the people that the title to the oil lands still belongs to Alberta. "We have not given away the title to any oil," says Premier Manning. This is a slippery evasion of the truth. The government has given private companies leases to the oil. This is not the same as renting a house. At the end of a lease you still have the house. In the case of oil the wealth is gone, although the people may still retain the land and the empty hole in the ground.

ABOUT THOSE ROYALTIES

The oil companies try to keep us quiet by talking about the royalties we get. They think the people should be satisfied with this. THE TRUTH IS THAT WE GET 12% AT BEST ON SOME OF THE OIL AND NOTHING AT ALL ON HALF OF IT. (Statement of Hon. N. E. Tanner to House of Commons Reconstruction Committee, Nov. 26, 1943).

According to the "Survey of Canadian Oils" published by the Financial Post, twenty of the companies exploiting Alberta oil and natural gas resources in 1943 earned for their shareholders in net profits and depreciation reserves the sum of $1,000,000. In the same year the revenue of the government from these resources was $843,000. After expenses of administration were paid the province got about $700,000. THE C.C.F. FOR EVERY DOLLAR TAKEN BY THE OIL COMPANIES.

THE CHOICE — STATE OR PRIVATE?

The government and the oil companies claim it does not matter who develops the resources as long as they are developed. The C.C.F. claims that if development is by private corporations the resources of Alberta won't mean much to the average citizen. Quebec has great resources. They have been highly developed. It has been done by private monopolies. The standard of living in Quebec is the lowest in Canada. Higher standards of living will come to Alberta from public ownership of the oil monopoly.

THE BIG FELLOWS THRIVE — The Little Ones Die

Royalty Oil Co., Ltd., up until the end of 1943 has taken from Turner Valley the following:

Dividends to Shareholders $11,183,420

Depreciation Reserves and Cash Surplus 15,753,251

*Total Gain to Shareholders $26,936,671

In contrast, some 1,400 companies which were started in Alberta have since died. These were the companies of the small investor. Their money was squandered in unplanned, unscientific drilling resulting in a lot of dry holes. A C.C.F. government won't organize 1,500 companies with 1,400 sets of slick promoters to squander the people's money.

Without Opposition

House Gives Third Reading To Family Allowance Bill

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Without opposition or formal vote the Commons last night gave third and final reading to the family allowances bill. It now goes to the Senate for consideration.

The members spent most of the day discussing the measure clause by clause in committee of the whole. It provides for payment of allowances on account of every child in Canada under the age of 16 and is to come into effect July 1, 1945.

In the meantime, as Brooke Claxton, parliamentary assistant to the Prime Minister, told the House, machinery for administration will be set up. A local office will be opened in each province and a registration of children eligible for the allowances will be started.

NEED BIRTH CERTIFICATES

Production of birth certificates for all children for whose benefit allowances are claimed will be required eventually, said Mr. Claxton.

It may not be possible to have more than 3,000,000 birth certificates by the time the allowances start, however, and some leeway will likely be needed. The local administrative offices will probably be opened about the beginning of 1945.

Mr. Claxton said he believed that the government could carry out its family allowances plan and other social measures in the post-war and still reduce taxation "substantially."

"The budget of Canada in any ordinary period that we can envisage ahead will take care of this measure and other social security measures of the government and at the same time reduce taxation very substantially," Mr. Claxton said during the continued study in committee of the family allowance bill.

CAN REDUCE TAXES

No one could have any doubt that when war costs went down Canada could reduce taxation and still carry out its social security plans, Mr. Claxton said in reply to John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre).

Mr. Diefenbaker said he wondered where the government intended to raise the $200,000,000 which would be needed annually to carry out the family allowances plan. He wondered if the allowances would prevent a reduction in income tax to pre-war levels.

Before study of the allowances bill was resumed, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that Canada has arranged with the United States to assume full cost of air line installations in northern Canada. The Dominion will pay $120,000,000 in Canadian funds to the United States for outlays that country made on the installations.

In making the announcement, Mr. King also disclosed the ramifications of the hitherto secret northeast staging route to Europe.

ADOPT RESOLUTION

The house adopted on division a resolution to a bill providing for the appointment of a full-time salaried chairman for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Progressive Conservative CCF members expressed doubt that the appointment would help improve radio service in Canada.

Harry Jackman (PC-Toronto, Rosedale) said he feared the family allowances would help prevent workers in Quebec from obtaining wage increases. Quebec, with its lower wages, was attracting industries away from Ontario.

Prime Minister King said labor obtained high wages mainly by being organized. It was easier for labor to be organized and fight for higher wages where most of the workers were single or had small families than where many had large families.

WILL GAIN STRENGTH

Far from making labor in Quebec weaker the allowances would make it stronger, more economically independent, better able to organize, to strike if necessary and to fight and gain higher wages.

CALL ON FALLOW

Near the close of the premier's address, the Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, was called for a few words by the chairman. He responded and was well received.

He said, in his own inimitable way, that he had recently seen the picture of the only CCF-er to get into the legislature which was captioned 'The Next Premier of Alberta,' and drew a hearty cheer as he pointed to Premier Manning, saying, "There is your next premier."

At North Star Monday night Mr. Fallow addressed a meeting at which more than 250 were in attendance and he was greatly gratified, particularly when he was informed throughout his travels that the run of meetings held by opposition candidates drew barely a baker's dozen.

URGES SUPPORT

W. F. Gilliland opened the meeting asking for the support of all those who wanted the Social Credit government returned to office.

Candidates are rushing through this vast constituency in a desperate endeavor to get in as many meetings as possible before "U" day, holding as many as three meetings in a single day.

King Pins VC On Maj. Mahony

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, July 31.—(Delayed)—(CP)—King George of Britain today personally decorated Major John Keefer Mahony of New Westminster, B.C., with the Victoria Cross.

The ceremony took place before troops fully representative of the Canadian Corps, assembled on a parade ground which a few months ago was an operational airfield.

Facing the royal dais in the centre of the field, drawn up three deep in a line almost half a mile long, were the Royal 22nd Regiment—unit of Major Paul Triquet,

V.C., who attended the ceremony—the New Westminster Regiment—Mahony's unit—and the Irish Regiment of Canada, a Toronto unit.

Alleged "Slasher" Arrested at Coast

VANCOUVER, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Alex Munro, 54, was arrested and charged with carrying an offensive weapon when he allegedly attempted to slash clothing in a downtown clothing store here yesterday. For the last month police have been looking for a man who has been cutting valuable clothing on display in stores throughout Vancouver, New Westminster and Chilliwack. A knife with a sharp blade was found in Munro's possession when he was searched at police headquarters.

Mr. Manning gave an outline of what the people of Alberta could expect should the voters, in exercising their franchise next Tuesday, fail to return the Social Credit government on the wild promises of the socialists, hysterical over their recent success in Saskatchewan, and sought to lure the Alberta voters into their meshes.

He pointed out the pre-election promises in the Saskatchewan campaign, the same promises now being made in Alberta, by a flock of imported campaigners, were in sharp contrast with the statements

Alberta's School System

Under the Social Credit administration of this province, Alberta's school system has advanced to the point where it is recognized as the best and most efficient on the North American Continent.

Education is the keystone of democracy. Only an enlightened electorate can cast those intelligent votes which are essential to the continuation of the democratic system. By improving the school system of Alberta, the Social Credit Government has rendered a service to democracy.

One of the important reforms effected since 1935 has been the establishment of large school divisions in place of small school districts. In 1935 there were 3,750 small school districts. Today there are 50 large divisions. This has been accomplished without destroying local autonomy in education.

Better school supervision has been brought in at much lower cost. Text books have been provided to pupils at wholesale cost or, in some instances, without cost at all.

In 1935 teachers were not recognized as a profession. Today they are accorded full professional status. In 1935 the average salary of a rural teacher was $722. Today the minimum salary is raised to $800 and average for a rural teacher is $1,075.

Under the Social Credit Government, many new schools have been built to replace obsolete structures. The classrooms are modern, bright and sanitary. Between 1937 and 1943 nearly 400 new schools were built at a cost of $1,141,395. The cost of additions alterations and improvements was $732,467.

All arrears of teachers' salaries have been paid.

The total provincial grant to education in the fiscal year 1934-35 was $1,391,020. The total grant in the current fiscal year is $2,717,700.

All this represents a sound and progressive educational policy second to none on this continent. It represents good government.

The people of Alberta will recall these facts when they go to the polls on August 8.

"Get Out the Vote"

The Junior Chamber of Commerce renders an important service in this community when it embarks on its "Get Out the Vote" Campaign.

As The Bulletin pointed out in this place yesterday, a vote is not an experiment, but a decision. It is neither to be cast lightly nor withheld through indifference. For the purposes of democracy are not served by a lethargic or ill-informed electorate.

The advertising campaign of the Junior Chamber, designed to enhance the interest of younger voters in this election, is an excellent and much-needed move.

The meeting to be held Thursday night in the Masonic Temple, in which each party is invited to explain its cardinal policies in plain language, is even more excellent. However, it can only function as it should if the young people attend in force. Every young voter in Edmonton should be there.

This campaign by the Junior Chamber is a public-spirited effort. It should have the encouragement and assistance of everybody.

Quebec CCF

The Bloc Populaire is putting on quite a campaign in Quebec, in the Provincial election. Its orators say that Confederation has failed, that the French Canadians are oppressed and unhappy, say that there should be a French speaking republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence, that the British connection is the worst possible thing for Canada, that Britain is sending Canadian soldiers overseas to be slaughtered, to protect Britain.

It is quite a campaign. It is the sort of campaign which would scarcely be very popular in Alberta.

What might interest us in Alberta is that there is plenty of evidence of a very close connection between the C.C.F. and the Bloc Populaire in Quebec. Recently, Mr. Henri Bourassa, founder of the isolationists school in Quebec, strongly advised the Bloc Populaire to vote C.C.F. as a second choice, and the Quebec C.C.F. conference recently criticized the British Labour Party very severely for co-operating in the war.

It is just as well to know these things. The C.C.F. leaders in Alberta are patriots and so are most of their supporters. What we have a right to ask is that they tell us definitely that the C.C.F. in Alberta has no sympathy whatever for the C.C.F. in Quebec or for any attempt to link up C.C.F. and the Bloc Populaire.

Zoot-Suiters Again

Within the past 96 hours two riots have broken out in Vancouver between what are described as "zoot-suiters" and merchant seamen and servicemen. In each case, the aggressors were those peculiar persons who feel an inexplicable urge to get themselves up in fantastic "drape-shape" jackets, "high drape" pants, pork pie hats and the other current paraphernalia of hooliganism.

Other such clashes have occurred recently in Quebec and other parts of Canada. Now the phenomenon of the "zoot-suiters" poses a quaint problem which must have puzzled thoughtful people ever since it appeared.

Is the "zoot-suiters" a hoodlum because of his amazing dress, or does he wear the dress as a symbol of his hoodlumism?

One can readily understand, of course, the probable degenerating effect on the human mind, or alleged mind, of those singular habiliments. Grotesqueries of costume undoubtedly press deep into the human soul. And sartorial whimsy can be a dreadful taskmaster.

But on the other hand, if these eccentrics adopt the zoot-suit as a symbol of their principles, they must find themselves in a frightful paradox.

For the protest of these persons is directed primarily against the regimentation of war. They riot against sailors and soldiers because they don't want to be sailors and soldiers themselves. But think of the absurd spot in which they find themselves!

Imagine donning this misbegotten tailor's nightmare as a protest against wearing the neat blue or khaki of the services.

What's Stopping Him?

"Some sowers of hate and discord," says Premier Godbout of Quebec "should be behind the bars instead of being allowed to talk as they are in the Quebec election campaign."

With that statement millions of Canadians will be in full accord.

Bloc Populaire and Union Nationale candidates regularly talk treasonable nonsense on the hustings.

Mr. Godbout would put them in jail. Well, he is the premier. What's stopping him?

There is no law that we know of that gives a political candidate any more right to talk sedition than any man in the street.

Many Dangers Lie in Process of Weakening Germany

Problem Complicated by Difficulty in Moving Population

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

We have considered the proposal to "eliminate the German menace" by giving East Prussia and independent parts of Silesia and Pomerania to Poland, from which places the population would be evacuated into the remaining Reich. We estimated that these evacuations, plus others that would certainly follow from other states with German minorities would raise the population inside the narrowed Reich to some 10,000,000 more than inhabited Germany in 1937.

Is this a good idea, from the standpoint of future peace? First of all, can it be done? Theoretically, yes. For the time being I leave out of account whether the United States is willing to share responsibility for tearing millions of men, women and children from the homes of their ancestors and the soil they have tilled. People speak lightly of moving populations, and recall the "unsuccessful exchange of Greek and Turkish populations after the last war. Those of us who saw that procedure and have had opportunity to follow it up since do not share the satisfaction of its authors.

The evacuation of the Finnish population after the first conquest of Karelia by the Russians presented a problem which was all but insoluble to the receiving homeland. The existing social structure was incapable of assimilating them.

But the case of Germany is different. Greece and Finland are mainly agricultural countries, whereas Germany is an industrial nation that even with the most rigid autarchal measures cannot produce sufficient food for its population. The areas which it is proposed to attach to Poland and evacuate of their overwhelmingly German populations are, with the exception of a small part of upper Silesia, agricultural. The eastern marshes which here come in question are poor soil, but are important grain and potato producers. The consequences of sending more Germans into a Reich truncated of these areas must inevitably be one of three things: starvation and chaos added to the general consequences of a lost war and a country partially destroyed by bombing; or, large-scale emigration overseas; or, a greatly intensified industrialization.

All European countries that have been overrun by the Germans will want reparations. Large reparations cannot be extracted out of chaos and starvation. So if this is a solution it will cancel other plans. But it will also cancel the present concept of maintaining law and order in Europe. Millions of people are not wrenched from their homes to face destitution and die in law and order. Maintaining any sort of law and order in a collapsed Germany is going to be hard enough in any case.

Wholesale emigration is a solution. But what lands will open in their flight for freedom for Europe and the world. This man seems to think he is speaking for the whole of Canada when in truth he is uttering the sentiments of a certain political party.

Edmonton.

Roosters and Dogs

Editor, Bulletin: It is hard to understand some good people. Just why a man will keep a crowing rooster after knowing that it is an annoyance to his neighbors is difficult to explain. The same may be said about a barking dog, which, according to dog trainers, is entirely unnecessary. Any dog with sufficient intelligence to be kept may be broken from barking in a few days. When a dog trouble develops it is generally the owner's fault, not the dog's. After all, the city is human beings, not for crowing roosters and midnight barking dogs.

Edmonton.

Social Credit Aims

Editor, Bulletin: I do not think the claim that Social Credit proposals for monetary reform have been a "casualty" in the current Alberta election, can be sustained. I notice that reports of speeches by government spokesmen regularly call for monetary reform and national dividends, and the same is true in the Alberta Social Credit paper, "Today and Tomorrow," which I receive.

If there are any philosophical casualties in the Alberta election, they are (1) orthodox finance and (2) the old line parties.

The Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that a province can not issue money or credit-money. We long ago accepted that decision, decided that they had to operate the province under orthodox finance, and turned our monetary reform fight into the federal field where the law says it belongs.

That was why we held a National Convention in Toronto last April, and formulated a national policy. The issue Alberta today is, whether Hitler will flee, when the fold. On the immediate plane, it is Edmonton.

Integrity

Editor, Bulletin: Would appreciate space in your paper to make a few remarks regarding your editorial in July 12, Bulletin. Your remarks with reference to Mr. Manag's honesty and integrity I'm sure are appreciated by the majority of people in Alberta, myself included. The advanced legislation with regard to free cancer treatment, free T.B. treatment and V.D. treatment, also hospitalization for maternity cases, is a forward move as any sane person will agree.

However, regarding the advance in the school system, yes there has been an advance but your editorial does not go far enough. You did not mention that the school-tax has been more than doubled also, although we were given to understand that amalgamation would effect a saving.

Our wage laws have advanced in the Edmonton field more than any other part of the province and the mining industry, namely from $4.41 to $7.34. Roughly speaking about 66 per cent, while coal prices have advanced 25 per cent. Our coal sells at $1.00 per ton less than Drumheller while the wages are the same.

With regard to compensation benefits you mention: under the previous rate of wages of $4.41 the operators' cost was 30c per day per man compensation. At the prevailing rates of pay it has increased to 80c per day. Approximately 166 per cent. I think you will agree this is the largest insurance rate known! These dues have to be paid in advance and any infringement draws a penalty of 4 per cent. Therefore I see no reason why the benefits could not be increased.

Sedition?

Editor, Bulletin: It is hard to understand how certain people can say what they do in criticism of our government and its war policy in such a time as this and not be guilty of sedition.

In The Bulletin you have an account of a speech by Andre Laurendeau entitled, "Eire Paterni Canada." Not only does he say we should follow their example and their leader, de Valera, but should not be supporting the Old Country

Social Credit Aims

Editor, Bulletin: I do not think the claim that Social Credit proposals for monetary reform have been a "casualty" in the current Alberta election, can be sustained. I notice that reports of speeches by government spokesmen regularly call for monetary reform and national dividends, and the same is true in the Alberta Social Credit paper, "Today and Tomorrow," which I receive.

If there are any philosophical casualties in the Alberta election, they are (1) orthodox finance and (2) the old line parties.

The Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that a province can not issue money or credit-money. We long ago accepted that decision, decided that they had to operate the province under orthodox finance, and turned our monetary reform fight into the federal field where the law says it belongs.

That was why we held a National Convention in Toronto last April, and formulated a national policy. The issue Alberta today is, whether Hitler will flee, when the fold. On the immediate plane, it is

Integrity

Editor, Bulletin: Would appreciate space in your paper to make a few remarks regarding your editorial in July 12, Bulletin. Your remarks with reference to Mr. Manag's honesty and integrity I'm sure are appreciated by the majority of people in Alberta, myself included. The advanced legislation with regard to free cancer treatment, free T.B. treatment and V.D. treatment, also hospitalization for maternity cases, is a forward move as any sane person will agree.

However, regarding the advance in the school system, yes there has been an advance but your editorial does not go far enough. You did not mention that the school-tax has been more than doubled also, although we were given to understand that amalgamation would effect a saving.

Our wage laws have advanced in the Edmonton field more than any other part of the province and the mining industry, namely from $4.41 to $7.34. Roughly speaking about 66 per cent, while coal prices have advanced 25 per cent. Our coal sells at $1.00 per ton less than Drumheller while the wages are the same.

With regard to compensation benefits you mention: under the previous rate of wages of $4.41 the operators' cost was 30c per day per man compensation. At the prevailing rates of pay it has increased to 80c per day. Approximately 166 per cent. I think you will agree this is the largest insurance rate known! These dues have to be paid in advance and any infringement draws a penalty of 4 per cent. Therefore I see no reason why the benefits could not be increased.

Sedition?

Editor, Bulletin: It is hard to understand how certain people can say what they do in criticism of our government and its war policy in such a time as this and not be guilty of sedition.

In The Bulletin you have an account of a speech by Andre Laurendeau entitled, "Eire Paterni Canada." Not only does he say we should follow their example and their leader, de Valera, but should not be supporting the Old Country

Many Dangers Lie in Process of Weakening Germany

Problem Complicated by Difficulty in Moving Population

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

We have considered the proposal to "eliminate the German menace" by giving East Prussia and independent parts of Silesia and Pomerania to Poland, from which places the population would be evacuated into the remaining Reich. We estimated that these evacuations, plus others that would certainly follow from other states with German minorities would raise the population inside the narrowed Reich to some 10,000,000 more than inhabited Germany in 1937.

Is this a good idea, from the standpoint of future peace? First of all, can it be done? Theoretically, yes. For the time being I leave out of account whether the United States is willing to share responsibility for tearing millions of men, women and children from the homes of their ancestors and the soil they have tilled. People speak lightly of moving populations, and recall the "unsuccessful exchange of Greek and Turkish populations after the last war. Those of us who saw that procedure and have had opportunity to follow it up since do not share the satisfaction of its authors.

The evacuation of the Finnish population after the first conquest of Karelia by the Russians presented a problem which was all but insoluble to the receiving homeland. The existing social structure was incapable of assimilating them.

But the case of Germany is different. Greece and Finland are mainly agricultural countries, whereas Germany is an industrial nation that even with the most rigid autarchal measures cannot produce sufficient food for its population. The areas which it is proposed to attach to Poland and evacuate of their overwhelmingly German populations are, with the exception of a small part of upper Silesia, agricultural. The eastern marshes which here come in question are poor soil, but are important grain and potato producers. The consequences of sending more Germans into a Reich truncated of these areas must inevitably be one of three things: starvation and chaos added to the general consequences of a lost war and a country partially destroyed by bombing; or, large-scale emigration overseas; or, a greatly intensified industrialization.

All European countries that have been overrun by the Germans will want reparations. Large reparations cannot be extracted out of chaos and starvation. So if this is a solution it will cancel other plans. But it will also cancel the present concept of maintaining law and order in Europe. Millions of people are not wrenched from their homes to face destitution and die in law and order. Maintaining any sort of law and order in a collapsed Germany is going to be hard enough in any case.

Wholesale emigration is a solution. But what lands will open in their flight for freedom for Europe and the world. This man seems to think he is speaking for the whole of Canada when in truth he is uttering the sentiments of a certain political party.

James Claims "Doubles" Used By Opposition

Both, he charged, bear names similar to the candidate running for the seat.

Terming such political action a "cheap trick," Mr. James said that he regretted that any parties in the Alberta election should descend to these levels. Mr. James told the meeting that this type of campaigning by the opposition had been brought to his attention by A. J. Hook, provincial secretary, and added that while he had been aware of it for some time, this was the first time he had brought it to the attention of the electors.

Enlarging on his charge, Mr. James said the opposition had advertised various meetings and had named the speaker without specifying whether or not he was the candidate for the seat.

GOVERNMENT ATTACKED

"The government has been torn apart and trampled upon in this campaign, while all over Canada and the entire continent the Alberta government is recognized as the cleanest, most decent and efficient government in this hemisphere. Luckily, the truth has been twisted so much that the general public realizes that the talk is false," he said.

Continuing, Mr. James said that Elmer E. Roper has charged that the Social Credit party has put aside the principles laid down by the late premier, William Aberhart. But, he said, when asked to name actual facts he can't do it. "We still fight for the same platform as in 1935. This government has been fighting for a better life for the people for ten years and will continue to do so," he said.

Mr. James stressed that reforms introduced by the government had been opposed by other groups which now claim "to be the salvation of the people."

NOW AT CROSSROADS

"You have now come to the crossroads and must decide whether you will choose to turn Canada into a progressive country or turn it into a slave state."

Be logical, he urged, the CCF party although it strongly objects to being called national socialist in policy is really following this principle. The state is to be everything, the individual nothing, he warned.

"Remember that when Premier Manning decided to call the election he said August 8 will be U-day. He further stated that the government was the people's servant. Whereas the opposition party say, 'I will do this or I will do that. They turn it into an 'I-day,' said Mr. James.

Alberta is the most prosperous province in Canada today, but when the government came into power the bank was empty, he concluded.

Mr. Gillies, explaining the treasury branches, said "they are to stimulate the sale of Alberta-made products, and the purchasing power of the people. They would give economic security and freedom by handling all internal and external trade and would mobilize the savings of the people of Alberta," he said.

SOON SELF-SUSTAINING

"One point brought out by the opposition is that the treasury branches cost too much, but they are gradually becoming self-sustaining. It should be remembered that any experiment takes time and money. The treasury houses are ready to function, and they will work if the whole cycle from wage earner to retailer and wholesaler will co-operate," he said.

Mr. Gillies said the trouble is that when the late William Aberhart brought forward this idea

Canadian Corvette Shares in Action As Planes Downed

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—The Canadian Corvette Alberni, on patrol off the Normandy coast last Wednesday night, took part in an action in which two JU-88s were shot down, the Admiralty announced yesterday.

The Alberni was commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. I. H. Bell, RCNVR, of Vancouver, whose wife lives in Halifax.

Also engaged in the action in which the enemy planes tried to attack the patrolling craft were two Royal Navy vessels, the destroyer Faulknor and the frigate Kingsmill.

No casualties or damage were suffered by any of the three vessels, the communique said.

Say Troops Little Interested in Vote

ROME, Aug. 2.—(AP)—American troops in Italy "show an utter lack of interest" in the forthcoming presidential elections, the national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Earl J. Schoeniger of Detroit, said yesterday. Earlier war correspondents were warned that the law forbids them to ask American soldiers how they intend to vote.

Oil Production

CALGARY, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Alberta crude oil production totalled 23,856 barrels daily for the week ending July 24, a decline of approximately 3,000 barrels daily from the yield a year ago, according to the weekly report of the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board issued yesterday.

he was thinking 10 years ahead of the mob.

It is remarkable how closely the family allowances brought in by the Ottawa government are related to Social Credit's $25 dividend plan, except that under the Alberta system the money would come from the reserve built up by natural resources, instead of direct taxation as is being done by the Dominion government," he said.

PURPOSE DEFEATED

Mr. Gillies stressed also that second choice votes put Elmer Roper into office last term. "The common man on the street does not realize that if he votes 1 for Mr. Manning and 2 for Mr. Roper that he is really defeating his purpose."

Mr. Carrigan discussed opposing philosophies. "This political war being waged here today is only a focal point for the larger war of philosophies which is now being waged throughout the world," he said.

"There are two basic philosophies, the Christian, or democratic, which recognize the dignity of the person, the sanctity of the family and the right to own private property. It is essentially a philosophy of freedom."

"The alternative, which is pagan and totalitarian, is anti-Christian, anti-democratic, and it denies the dignity of the person, the sanctity of the family and the right to own anything. Essentially it is a philosophy of slavery."

"In short it is slavery as opposed to freedom, through democracy," he stated.

PROBLEM OF FUTURE

"When the various countries at war today with the Allies set up their types of government it seemed to solve immediate problems but in the end it did not solve the problem of the future. That is what the people of Alberta must remember."

"The nationalizing and socializing platforms of opposition parties will not stand up under investigation," he said, "and it must be remembered that promises made have to be fulfilled and this cannot possibly be done."

There are two ways of doing what the opposition plans to do. The first is by purchasing the industries for the people and making them pay by taxation for their upkeep, or by confiscation. The first is a glorified state of capitalism and the second would lead to a revolution, he said.

SPEAKS OF PLACARDS

Orvis A. Kennedy remarked about the different placards now on display. On one it read, "Do you want to live in a home instead of a tent, vote CCF." In another place he saw a tent with the placard, CCF committee room, written on it. "Immediately I saw the connection," he said, "if you vote CCF you live in a tent."

The opposition platform is that Social Credit has no support in the rest of the provinces of Canada but in Ontario the same party has capitalized on the Social Credit principles, he said.

In the outline of the CCF platform not a single thing is mentioned about financial monopolies. They intend to socialize everything but finance. This would appear to be monopolizing instead of socializing," he said.

"Remember," he said, "you are not voting for a person you are voting for a philosophy or a principle."

British People Appreciate Aid By Red Cross

Gratitude and appreciation of the British people for work of the Canadian Red Cross in the past five years was expressed by Lt.-Col. Sir William Kerr Fraser-Tytler, KBE, CMB, MC, representative of the British Red Cross in Washington, at a joint luncheon of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Men's Canadian Club and the Crows Club in the MacDonald hotel Tuesday noon.

Sir William is visiting the city to review the operation of the Canadian Red Cross branch here and brought a message of appreciation. Red Cross officials here for the assistance they have given the British people.

HELP TO MORALE
A tremendous impression was made on the British people by the piles of clothing from Canada the speaker said. The support, especially in 1940 was a great help to their morale.

The prisoner of war department of the Red Cross was started in 1940 and parcels for prisoners of war and interned civilians in the European theatre are going out from Canada at the rate of at least 100,000 a week and combined shipments from Canada and the United States total a million and a half parcels a month, the speaker said.

With millions of men scattered all over the world in camps few would return to their own country fit in body and mind without the assistance of the Red Cross, Sir William said. They would not be able to take their place in society again if it were not for the care of the society.

Negotiations have never ceased to open up a route to the Far East by way of Vladivostok, Sir William said. So far no agreement has been reached with the Japanese but the parcels are ready, the machinery is ready and as soon as word comes 120,000 parcels a month will move.

"Hey, gang, c'mon—the mail's in!"

OFFICIALS WILLING
Speaking of the lack of co-operation of the Japanese in not joining the International Red Cross, the speaker said that the Japanese Red Cross officials were of the best element of the country and had cooperated.

The Red Cross is a challenge to the highest ideals of the human race, Sir William said and the work of the society represents Christianity in action and should provide a valuable guide for relationship between nations in peace-time. Without the ideals of the Red Cross the world could not survive, he declared.

"We are on the edge of great things," Sir William declared. "We can see the blue prints of the future which include a super league of nations and to carry these out we must all make ourselves indispensable." The speaker asked members to consider the minds of the men who have to put into action the blue prints and asked their help in all ways.

Seated at the head table were His Honor John Campbell Bowen, lieutenant-governor of Alberta, and Mrs. Ernest C. Manning, Chief Justice of the Province. Also present were Mr. J. W. Fry, mayor of Edmonton, and Mrs. Fry, Robert L. Streeper, American consul, and Mrs. Streeper, Mrs. Robert Proctor, John Dower, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Brown, Major Dacre, J. F. Lymburn, W. Van Dusen, D. E. Cameron, Miss A. M. Johnson, British Red Cross.

Hospitalization Plan Clarified

Provisions of Alberta's free maternity hospitalization legislation have been clarified to cover certain special cases not enumerated in the original legislation, according to an order-in-council recently passed by the provincial government.

The free maternity provisions, which went into effect on April 1 covered all "bona-fide" residents of the province. The minister of health was given power to extend benefits to certain specific cases not coming within these general limits in regard to residence qualifications.

According to the order-in-council, free maternity provisions are extended to:

1. Women who have married members of the armed services of Canada or an Allied power, or a member of the Merchant Marine, who at the time of marriage was a resident of Alberta.
2. Women who have married members of the armed services of Canada or an Allied power, or member of the Merchant Marine, whose husband at the time of enlistment was a resident of Alberta.
3. A woman who married a man who has left the province on essential war work, but who at the time of leaving was a resident of the province.
4. A woman who is normally a resident of the province, but who has left to take up essential war work elsewhere.

Provisions of the order-in-council were made retroactive to April 1.

Canadian Unity Is Said Harmed By CCF Policies

The sowing of confusion and the detracting from the war unity of Canadian people by the CCF and the creating of false issues by the Social Credit party which "cannot absolve itself from anti-semitism in Canada" was declared by Leslie Morris, Ontario leader of the Labor-Progressive party before an audience of about 70 persons in the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening.

He counselled his hearers to remember that a heavy responsibility will be upon Alberta, and urged that they see that a number of the candidates of the party he represented be elected to the provincial legislature on Aug. 8.

The speaker said he had not come here to invade Alberta, nor had he brought panzer divisions to stampede the electors.

PRELIMINARY BOUTS
On the same day, another province-Quebec—will go to the polls. "These are but preliminary bouts before the main fight, and heavy-weight championship, after the war," he continued.

The speaker asked if the issue in Canada is socialism. "The socialism issue arises from time to time in other countries, but never yet—and not now—is it an issue in Canada, or the United States, or in Great Britain."

"The CCF is totally out of step with history, and least of all in Canada, if it thinks socialism is at stake."

"That is not the issue," he declared. "The issue is: there must be no other aggressor allowed to arise in the world. And, if it isn't, then men from Canada and United States don't know what they're fighting for."

NO FASCISM HERE

"Those men do know that the issue they are fighting is the destruction of Fascism, and the CCF who says there is Fascism in Canada don't know what they're talking about. There is no Fascism here and there is not likely to be," said Mr. Morris.

He continued: "The program and issues of the CCF are sowing confusion and detracting from the war unity of Canadian people. It is a false program which splits the country from end to end."

The second front was an issue that threatened the unity of the United Nations for two years, said the speaker, adding that from the agreement arrived at—and which agreements were ridiculed by the CCF—would effect world affairs in which Edmonton was going to play a part.

"War," he continued, "war has shown that in the face of Fascism a unity can come that is indestructible." He referred to several countries which within themselves had united, and said that after the war France would have a new kind of government—a democratic government.

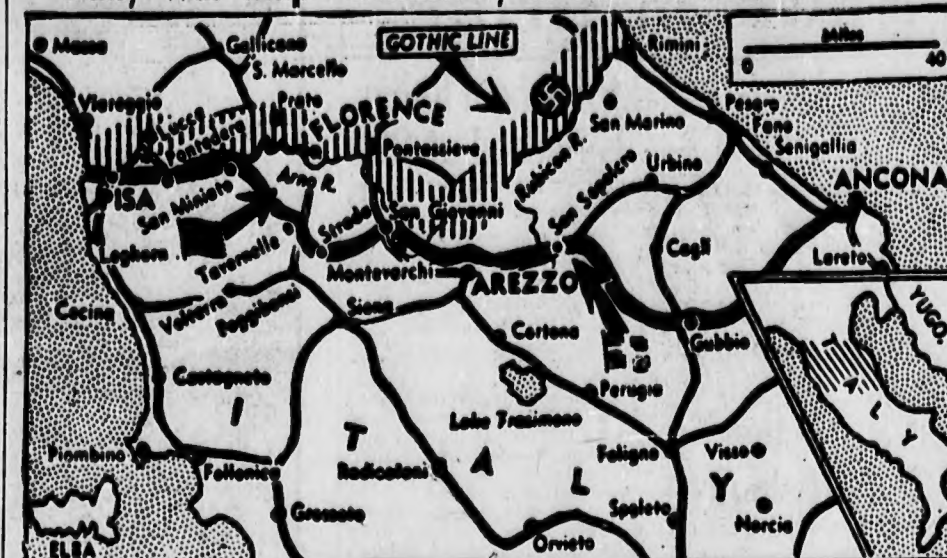

Mr. Morris declared that a world-influencing government, as the CCF or Social Credit would be "as suicidal as Munich before the war."

SEES DIFFERENT WORLD

He went on to say that the world after the war would be an entirely different world, and it was wrong to say that catastrophe faced Canada when the war ended.

The Social Credit party was of national significance in 1935, for it was a protest, a healthy, democratic protest, of the exploitation of the west, and while it had undoubtedly to the relative strengths. . . It has been shared and shared alike in good fortune and bad all along the front."

VERY GOOD NEWS

The news from Normandy, he told a cheering House of Commons is extremely good and "the first American Army advancing down the Atlantic coast might well be approaching the important railway centre of Rennes, about halfway across the base of the Brest peninsula."

Of Italy he said: "We may hope that operations of the utmost vigor will be continued by General Alexander (Allied commander in chief) and his army throughout the summer and autumn."

But he added that while things were going well there, "it is the Russian army who have done the most work tearing the guts out of the German army."

ROBOT CASUALTIES

The Prime Minister brought the war sharply home to Britons with the disclosure that 4,735 persons have been killed by rocket bombs.

accomplished something, the party had been guilty of creating false issues regarding wages, health, housing, and it could not absorb itself from anti-semitism in Canada, he said.

"It is a deadly lie that Canadian boys go away to fight and die while the Jews come to Canada to win the war by making money."

"National health insurance and family allowances are not considered bribery by the people, for they accept them. And it's better than oil," he quipped, and added: "The million dollar housing scheme in this province won't do. It won't build enough houses for the people of Edmonton."

FORESEES COALITION

Mr. Morris declared that the "two-party" system in Canada has gone. The day of coalition is coming.

The problem in Alberta, the same as anywhere else, is to elect candidates whose policy is a workable policy, candidates who will not permit petty-fogging ideas and private discoveries to stand in the way.

J. A. MacPherson, Alberta leader of the Labor-Progressive party, second speaker of the evening, termed the coming election an historic one, and one he hoped the people of Alberta will feel they can contribute towards in the fruits of victory."

The speaker dealt with the Alberta economy, and questioned whether the CCF could build highways, provide free health for people, pensions, allowances and jobs, from the smallest economy—the 3.7 per cent petroleum industry. The total cost, by conservative estimate, would be about $350,000,000, and would take 85 years to realize. The speaker said he would like to live long enough to see the results he so much doubted.

A. C. Campbell was chairman.

with 14,000 injured and 17,000 homes destroyed since the attacks began June 15.

He said the invasion of Normandy June 6 fulfilled a promise made to Stalin at Tehran that such a plan would be put into operation at the end of May or the beginning of June.

In return, he said, the Soviet leader promised "that the whole of the Russian armies would be thrown, as indeed they have been, into the general battle in the east."

EARLIER JAP DEFEAT

Mr. Churchill said that Britain's fleet in the Asiatic waters would be greatly strengthened by the end of the year and expressed belief that the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan "will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—than I had at one time supposed."

Talking of the plan to augment British Asiatic naval forces, he said "It is probable, however, that the Japanese fleet will have its time taken up with the navy of the United States, which is already double the size of that presumptive power."

Mr. Churchill said he did not believe the invasion of France "could have been executed any earlier."

LAUDS EISENHOWER

Mr. Churchill asserted Gen. Eisenhower "is a genius for bringing all his allies together and proud to consider himself an Allied as well as a United States commander."

"In the air, on the sea and under the sea our well-established supremacy increases with steady strides," the confident prime minister told the house.

He declared the German U-boats had been so badly beaten that the Allies, despite vastly greater tonnage, "have sailed the seas from January to June with less than half the losses we have inflicted on the dwindling and largely immobile naval resources of the enemy, both in the east and west."

Paying tribute to "important and expanding successes" in the Pacific, Mr. Churchill declared:

"I am increasingly led to feel that the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—than had at one time been supposed."

BEATS BURMA ROAD

He added that the American-built highway in Burma now is carrying far more tonnage than ever was delivered in similar time over the old Burma road.

Indicating still more vigorous strokes by the Americans in the Pacific, the Prime Minister said that the British fleet will be greatly strengthened in the east by the end of the year but "it is probable however that the Japanese fleet will have its time taken up with the navy of the United States which is already double the size of that presumptive power."

Answering persistent parliamentary criticism of British tanks, the Prime Minister declared that

New Commander No. 3 "M" Depot

Wing Commander A. C. Cocking took command of No. 3 "M" Depot here Tuesday, succeeding Group Capt. R. M. Smith, who was recently posted to No. 3 Wireless School, Winnipeg.

The new commanding officer would make no comment on RCAF plans regarding the exhibition grounds.

Prior to coming to Edmonton, he was stationed at headquarters of Western Air Command in Vancouver.

New Offensive

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—German forces launched a new offensive against Yugoslav partisan forces in Albania and bitter fighting is now raging in the Elbasan area about 50 miles inland from the coast.

tical aspects of the war, he said: "I look forward to the closest association of the British Empire, the United States, Russia and French representatives in the settlement of these European problems."

"This is in my opinion a hopeful moment for Poland, for whose rights and independence we entered the war."

WELCOMES FUSION

He said it seemed reasonable that Russia should expect that there should be a friendly Poland and that the Allies would welcome any fusion between Polish forces now working with the western forces and those working with the Soviet Union.

"It would be a marvelous thing if that could be proclaimed . . . when Warsaw is being liberated by the bravery of Russian armies."

Conditions have improved considerably in Yugoslavia; the Greek navy is again at sea and a Greek brigade soon will join the battle in Italy, he said.

Romania can look to Russia for any terms of peace. For Bulgaria, the "moment of repentance has not passed but it is passing swiftly," he added.

EVERYTHING BRIGHT

In short, the Prime Minister said, "the whole of Europe is sliding irresistibly into new and secure foundations."

He confirmed that Turkey had severed political and economic bonds with Germany, news received a few hours earlier from Ankara.

"We shall make common cause with her (Turkey) and take the German menace as well as we can in our stride," should the Germans strike, Churchill said.

Of Franz Von Papen, the German ambassador to Turkey, who failed to keep the country neutral, Mr. Churchill said he may now be sent back to Berlin "to take part in the blood bath that he so narrowly escaped at Hitler's hands at an earlier period."

INTERNAL STRIFE

He did not explain this reference to internal strife within Germany and he concluded on this cautious note:

"Potent as may be these manifestations of internal disease, decisive as even they may be one of these days, it is not in them that we should put our trust but in our own strong arm and the justice of our cause."

BEST-EQUIPPED ARMY

Gen. Eisenhower and his ground commander, Gen. Montgomery, now "stand at the head of an army equipped as no army has ever been equipped before."

All this was not accomplished without loss, he said, adding: "We have inflicted losses on the enemy about double those which we have suffered ourselves."

When the invasion started, the American and British-Canadian forces were about even in strength. United States forces now are larger, he disclosed.

The losses of the British and Canadians were proportionally about the same as those of the Americans and "it has been shared and shared alike all along the front."

BETTER RELATIONS

Mr. Churchill said there was great improvement in British relations with Gen. De Gaulle's French National Committee, "largely as the result of careful spadework of Mr. Eden and the great success attending Gen. De Gaulle's visit to President Roosevelt."

Edmonton Airman Will Return East
Sgt. Phil Davis, who was recently graduated as an air gunner from Mont Joli, Quebec, will leave Edmonton Wednesday night for Three Rivers, Quebec, where he will report for duty. He has been spending his first furlough, since enlisting in the RCAF, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Davis of the Leamington Apartments.

At one point during the war, stocks of petroleum products in the Halifax area were reduced to a three-day supply.

Cutting Corners a Dangerous Practice
Too many motorists, and cyclists, in Edmonton cut corners when turning at an intersection. It is a mighty dangerous thing to do. Take a little more time, turn at the centre of the street—and put out your hand and let the other fellow know where you intend to go.

Thieves Obtain $3,000 in Cash, $2,450 in Bonds

Punching open one of two safes on the premises of the Western Junk Company, 87 street and 102 avenue, sometime during Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, thieves obtained about $3,000 in cash and a further $2,450 in registered and unregistered bonds and war savings certificates.

Discovery that the premises had been broken into came about 8 a.m. and city police were notified shortly before another report from another section of the city was received to the effect that the Hutton Carpet Cleaning and Upholstering Company, 11020 Jasper avenue, had been entered during the night.
Police investigations during the morning were conducted at the latter place, where it was learned that about $50 had been taken from the company's safe, which had been left unlocked.

Edward Shochor, manager of the Western Junk Company, stated his belief that the safe there had been opened by someone who knew the layout. The vault, which was located near the front door of the store, had been ransacked, while a second, and larger safe, situated near the rear of the place, was not touched.

OVERLOOK TIE-PIN

Apparently, in the excitement of obtaining such a quantity of securities and other cash, the thieves overlooked a small jewel case containing a tie-pin owned by B. Friedman, proprietor, and valued at more than $700. All stolen goods were said to have been in a small box. The container was taken as well.

Entry into the building was made by removing an entire pane of glass in a door at the north side.

The door opens into a yard and is near a wooden gate which is kept closed at night. Police stated that the gate prevented a good view of the door from the street in the darkness.

Among the bonds taken, 20 were valued at $100 each; 46 certificates had a total value of $450, it was stated.

Investigations are continuing into this and the entry of the Hutton Carpet Cleaning and Upholstering Company.

Practice Makes Perfect

A high standard of efficiency is kept by Canadian troops resting behind the battle lines in both Italy and France. The picture above shows a machine gun competition by troops in Italy. Sgt. W. Clerk of Legislative Assembly

Name on 100 Ballots

Nominated for Seat in House

Although "Bob" Anderson, Alberta's chief electoral officer, didn't know it at the time, he was "nominated" for a seat in the next Legislature of the province. In fact, his name and official position, clerk of the executive council, was printed on a hundred ballots in a distant provincial riding.

It all happened when Mr. Anderson wrote the riding's returning officer, sending blank ballots for completion at a local printer's office. He asked the returning officer to return a hundred completed ballots, needed for distribution for the armed services vote at various military stations in the province.

The hundred ballots came back, neatly printed with Mr. Anderson's name standing out in lonely glory.

The three officially-nominated candidates for the constituency had been completely overlooked.
While appreciative of the returning officer's efforts to have him returned as a special armed service representative in the next legislature, Mr. Anderson will be there any way as clerk of the assembly.
He ordered a hasty correction of the error. The ballots are needed for use Friday, when soldiers in the province go to special polls.

Closing Accounts For North Project
The Alaska Highway project, so far as the U.S. Public Roads Administration is concerned, is completed. The PRA had its headquarters in Edmonton for some time, occupying extensive office space in the Empire Block.

Notices sent from Washington state that the PRA is closing out all accounts for materials and services supplied to R. McVillie Smith Co., Ltd., management contractors on the highway and 14 unit contractors. These were Canadian contractors. Similar notices will be given for other management contractors and unit contract holders.

When the PRA completed construction, it transferred the project to the control of the U.S. Army Engineers.

Add 500 Names To Voters' List Two-Day Period

Nearly 500 names have been added to the Edmonton voters' list in the first two days of list revisions, according to H. M. Crawford, city returning officer. Starting Monday, revision hearings added 300 names the first day, with another 200 coming in Tuesday.

Names will be accepted for inclusion in the voters' list up till 10 p.m. Wednesday. Mr. Crawford said. Persons who were missed in city-wide enumeration last week and who are entitled to vote may be entered on revised lists by making personal application at returning officers' headquarters, 9832 Jasper avenue.

Advance polls open Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m., for convenience of voters who will not be in the city on voting day, Aug. 8.

The advance voting starts at 2 p.m., continuing to 5 p.m., and in the evening is held between 7 and 10 p.m. It will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Crawford again requested all persons intending to use advance poll facilities to bring enumerators' slips with them, in order to save additional clerical work entailed in checking each individual name.

THE QUESTION

Do you think the home of the immediate post-war years will be different in plan and design from the homes being built today?

THE ANSWERS

ROB MORDEN, railroad worker: I think there will be great improvements in fixtures and appliances but don't see much change in design and layout of future homes. People seem to stay with conventional plans and don't want radical changes from present styles. Today's newest homes are unattractive in all ways, in my opinion.

H. McDONALD, secretary: The home of tomorrow will be more functional than it is now. In addition, it will be better lighted than is the counterpart of today. Bigger windows will be built, using "sunshine" glass. I think new homes will be all on one floor, and spread out instead of up.

G. R. WILTON, agent: If the advertisements one sees are a clue, homes of the future are to be a great change, particularly in the working parts, such as the kitchen. The old style of things is out, and all appliances will be made to fit into the decorative scheme, and yet be ready for instant use. I think we might see small-scale community refrigeration and heating, with one plant serving a block of homes, instead of having individual units in each house.

City Visitor

Henry G. Birks, president of Henry Birks and Sons Ltd., is in Edmonton for a three-day visit in the course of his annual tour of inspection of the Birks stores.

Expect Increase In Merchandise

Extensive increases in lines of merchandise manufactured by Henry Birks and Sons Ltd., were announced as part of the firm's post-war plans for expansion by the president, Henry G. Birks of Montreal, who is in Edmonton for a three-day visit.

Mr. Birks said their factories in Canada have been called upon to fill patriotic orders for items never attempted by them before and that after the war the experience will be diverted to production of items for civilian consumption.
"At the present time the merchandise problem is really tough," Mr. Birks said. "Some lines are just out all together and others are getting very low."

He said he found conditions generally in the West "very good." Appointed president of the firm early this year, Mr. Birks also is president of the Montreal Board of Trade for 1944. He is the third president in the 123 years the board has been established whose father also held the chair. William M. Birks was president in the centennial year, 1922.
Mr. Birks is also a member of the

From Whitehorse the party will go to Vancouver, and then return east.

Members of the party declined to discuss plans the companies may have for future exploration, development or operation in the north-west.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

WELL, it's back to the sports desk again, still convinced the memory of that eminent citizen who evolved the holiday idea is one ever to be revered. And thanks, Jack Delong, for attending to the pitching duties in this corner while a perfectly delightful fortnight in the mountains was being enjoyed to the utmost.

Yes, a few days in the Rockies are commended to those in the fortunate position of being able to look forward to even a little "time out." For "Go west," "re-man magic words, and particularly so when it comes to holidaying.

But then the local sport horizon is not without its immediate possibilities. The Arrow-Dodger session for Renfrew this evening is merely the forerunner of a busy baseball week, and the races soon return to Edmonton with the first card of the ten-day meeting scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

HE'LL BE THERE, ALRIGHT

AND when racing does come back to Edmonton, it's a dead clinch there is one gentleman who often may be observed in the paddock, the pari-mutuel department, or in the vicinity of the judges' stand, or elsewhere on the course, always keeping a close watch on proceedings.

Charles F. Roe is the man who co-ordinates the various departments of the race machinery, making certain that everything is running smoothly, and who in addition, each spring gathers the horses from southern tracks for the Prairie campaign.

The assistant manager of the Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg race meetings and honorary treasurer of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders' and Racing Association, knows the racing game and knows it thoroughly. A pleasing manner, alertness and an experience gained from more than a score of years "in the business," serve him well.

HEADS SOUTH EACH SPRING
EACH spring Charlie Roe journeys from his Winnipeg home to the race courses of California, Mexico and the central United States to gather horses for the prairie circuit. Each year he meets with marked success although he has to compete with the management of U.S. courses all anxious to secure horses from the winter tracks for summer seasons.

Each spring, before Calgary and Winnipeg start, reports come from California and Mexican courses and other tracks in the south that horses are en route to the prairies and the number of United States stables racing on this circuit are tribute to his ability to draw stables to the west despite long shipping distances.

Since western racing was organized by R. James Speers 20 years ago Charles F. Roe has always been the maestro's right hand man. That is why, today, the answer to any controversial question on the track is a reminder to see "C.F.R."

Flirted With No-Hitter Twice

Indian's Steve Gromek Looms As Great Pitching Prospect

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—(AP)—A lame-armed minor league shortstop shifted to the outfield in 1940 because he couldn't put enough zip on his throw to first, Steve Gromek of the Cleveland Indians looms as the greatest freshman pitching prospect to hit the majors since Bob Feller left an Iowa farm.

Twice this season Gromek has flirted with a no-hit game and each time his hopes were blasted in the eighth inning when the opposing catcher broke the suspense with a single.

Monday night the 24-year-old right hander retired the first 23 Boston Red Sox to face him, but Roy Partee stroked a single with two out in the eighth. He hurled seven hitless innings against Washington, July 2.

Options to the Cleveland Indians' Fargo-Moorhead farm club in the northern league in 1940, the youngster from Hamtramck, Mich., not only was unable to whip the ball across the infield but also had to bat left-handed. Muscles in his arm and shoulder had been strained.

Later in the year he was ordered to report to Flint in the Michigan State League and was assigned to the outfield. His arm regained its strength and his throwing became the league's sensation.

Once when Flint pitchers were pounded mercilessly to the outfield who threw "strikes" to the plate was summoned to the box. Thereafter he was given starting assignments, with Baltimore last year he won 16 games.

Dave Castilloux Takes Decision

MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Dave Castilloux, Montreal, holder of the Canadian lightweight and welterweight crowns, Tuesday night won an unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Pete Lello of Chicago at the baseball stadium. The French-Canadian battler gave away five and a quarter pounds in the non-title bout weighing in at 135 to Lello's 140½.

Making his first major appearance since beating Calgary Al Lust for the Dominion lightweight title back in 1942, Castilloux was far from impressive in a dull bout which attracted an estimated 7,000 fans. However, Lello was unable to do much with the champion's flicking left jab and all three judges voted at least eight rounds to Castilloux.

Angott Captures 10-Round Verdict

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Sammy Angott, former N.B.A. lightweight king, gave Aaron Perry another ring lesson in scoring a 10-round decision over the 18-year-old Washington negro before some 10,000 fans Tuesday night.

Angott weighed 143, a pound less than Perry. He had much the best of the in-fighting throughout. When Perry threatened in the fifth and seventh fifth hard right socks to the jaw, Sammy tied him up in clinches. There were no knockdowns. The decision was unanimous.

Sailors Defeat Moose 4-1 in Deciding Contest of Playoff

Navy Enters Northern Fastball Finals

Will Meet U.S. Squad On Thursday

The Sailors from HMCS Nonsuch entered the senior men's northern Alberta fastball finals Tuesday night when they handed Moose a 4-1 defeat in the deciding game of the best of three series at Knigaway Park. The Navy-men now meet the USAF Officers in the finals, starting Thursday.

Two runs in the first inning on a walk to Jack Ingram, a single and a stolen base by Ernie Foss and a two-bagger by Ken McCauley gave the winners a lead the Moose club were unable to overcome.

Al Young, who pitched a nice brand of ball for the Nonsuch ballers held the losers scoreless until the sixth when Moose threatened with one run and had the tying marker on base when the side was retired. Bert Castenelli tripped to right field and was driven in by Eddy Goyan's single to short field for the lone Moose run.

Navy made it 3-1 in the seventh when "Sonny" Wheatfield banded out a two-bagger to centre field, advanced on a wild pitch and came in on Stew Hart's fly to short field, and then finished off the scoring in the top of the ninth when Ivan Krook rounded the sacks on a walk, two wild pitches and a fly out to short field.

Two rare double plays were pulled off by members of the Nonsuch club. Wheatfield came through with one in the second when, with Len Haines on third, he snagged Alex Yack's line drive while standing on the sack to force Haines, who had stopped off the bag, out. Foss registered the other one in the fourth when Ken McCauley was on first by means of a walk. Art Dalmar then came up to fly out to Foss who raced to the bag and forced McCauley out.

Ex-Blue Bomber, Jeff Nicklin Reported Wounded in France

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2.—(CP)—One of the greatest football players ever developed on the prairies and a member of Winnipeg Blue Bombers when they won the Dominion title in 1939, Maj. Jeff Nicklin has been wounded in France.

A cable received here Monday by relatives said the 29-year-old athlete, was struck by bomb shrapnel while carrying out his duties as second in command of the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion.

Nicklin was one of the first paratroopers to drop on French soil on D-Day and has been operating on the Normandy front ever since.

On his first jump he landed alone and by mistake in the centre of the German garrisoned town of Varaville, east of the Orne river. His parachute caught on a roof and he dangled down the side wall as Germans scurried about the town. Several Nazis spotted him and shot at him, but he cut himself loose and took cover.

It took him an hour to get clear of the Nazis and join his unit.

Senators Lose 11th in Row

Browns Hold Biggest Lead Of American League Season

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—(AP)—St. Louis Browns extended their American League lead to 5½ games last night—their biggest margin of the season—by defeating the hapless Washington Senators 11-6. It was the 11th consecutive loss for the Nats and their fourth in a row to the Browns.

The sensational hitting streak of young Al Zarilla was stopped at 11 games, when he failed to connect safely in his three official times at bat. He walked once and drove in one run on a fly ball.

Big Jack Jakucki had a one-hit game until Washington exploded with four runs on five blows in the seventh. George Coster finished for the home club.

Dutch Leonard was the losing hurler for the Senators.

The Sox broke a 2-2 deadlock by driving Jim Bagby from the mound with a two-run rally in the seventh, but the tribe's Mickey Rocco tied the count again in the last half of the inning by blasting a home run over the right field screen with Paul O'Dea on base.

Manager Joe Cronin left Hughson in the box as the Indians clinched the game with a four-run uprising in the eighth.

Wyatt, making his first mound appearance since June 26, was found for 10 hits and seven runs, all told, the Cardinals collected 17 blows off five hurlers.

Walk-Rite "A" Beats Pats To Square Fastball Series

Walk-Rite "A" broke up a tight pitching duel between Betty Carveth and Jean Stewart in the sixth inning and went on to defeat Army and Navy Pats 5-1 at Kingsway Park on Tuesday night and square the best of three senior girls' northern Alberta fastball final at one game each. Deciding clash of the playoff will be tonight in the second half of the double-header.

Glenora Players Re-Take Doubles Challenge Trophy

The Glenora team of Ald. Fred Mitchell and L.A.C. Leo Lemieux did the honors for their home club on Tuesday night by returning the Kavanagh men's double tennis trophy to their home club mantle. As challengers they defeated the Civil Service pair of Alf Blyth and George Docherty in straight sets, 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

Chief opposition received by the Mitchell-Lemieux combination was in the second set, in which there were many sharp exchanges, with the players seldom resorting to long court drives. Lobs also were plentiful and well placed. Steady work provided the victory margin for the Glenora team.

Next challengers for the trophy are the Hennig-Millar pair from Garneau and the match is expected to take place at Glenora on Friday at 6:30 p.m.

Tennis Tourney At Wasagaming

WASAGAMING, Man., Aug. 2.—(CP)—Three Regina tennis players were noticeable entries in the annual Wasagaming tennis tournament which opened here Tuesday.

Bob Fuller of Regina defeated Lloyd Borland of Winnipeg, 6-0, 6-2, while E. Jacoby of Regina defeated J. Craig, also of Regina, 6-1, 6-1.

Rosemary Gill of Regina was defeated in the first round of the ladies' singles by Margaret Currie of Winnipeg. Scores for the three sets were 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—(CP)—It's the only August, but the voice of the hockey turtle is beginning to resound throughout the land. Signs of activity in the ice game crop up here and there, and Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell relays some gossip straight from the grapevine.

Ken says the National Hockey League is all set to do business this year, and has received the blessing of Ottawa authorities, but that it may have to string along without its colorful managing director, Red Dutton. Red apparently is a busy man now with his construction company working full blast, and may find it hard to handle his chores in hockey's bigtime.

Things will be duller without Red, if the report is true. Chances are that as soon as the teams hit the trail to the training camps Red will find time to get back into harness.

ABOUT FACE

The army entry in the Vancouver Senior Lacrosse Loop is back in the swim again after a brief period spent in the cold of official disaster. The soldiers were barred from play recently by military officials in Vancouver, heaving strictly to the Ottawa sports edict, but now the ruling apparently has been reversed. Army has a strong team and is expected to give the current champs, New Westminster Salmonbellies, a stiff run providing Ottawa doesn't hand down another unfavorable ruling.

ODD ENDS

Bas (Montreal Star) O'Meara says E.M. Orlick, indefatigable researcher into things sporting, is convinced lacrosse was played in Montreal 400 years ago. There's a chance for a hall of fame discussion for a hall of fame discussion.

Fritz Hanson, Winnipeg Blue Bombers' starry blond football twinkler,

Up to the sixth, the two chuckers had held the opposition scoreless, but Walk-Rites pushed across three in that frame on two errors, a pair of stolen bases, a single, an out at first and a double to take over command.

The Pats threatened to tie it up in the top of the seventh, but were held to one run by last season's champs. Ruth Brault scored the only Pat marker after she reached first on an error at short. Thora Stewart sent her to second on a single to right field, and then a passed ball allowed both runners

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Tears Are Contemptible Weapons Used by Women

Female Using Them to Gain Ends Plays Lowdown Game on Father and Sweetheart; Should Be Good Sport

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother has been dead for some time and my father gives me everything I could desire. However, there are times when I want things he thinks I should not have and then all that I have to do is to cry in order to get my own way.

I am engaged to a very nice young man, and sometimes I do things of which he does not approve and then we quarrel, but if I cry he will give in and be again at my feet. As long as this method gets me what I want, do you think it is right for me to use it?

A SPOILED CHILD. Answer: Undoubtedly you have taken the easiest and quickest way of getting what you want, because tears have ever been woman's most effective weapon to use against men. For some reason that no one can explain, men's backbones just melt down into a pulp under the water from a woman's eyes, even when they know that she is weeping for revenue only.

Why this is thus, nobody knows, not even the poor, limp man who has surrendered to the crybaby. All that he knows is that he simply can't stand the weeps, so to stop her blubbering he gives her the car he can't afford, or the dress that he will have to do without lunches to pay for, or he apologizes to her for the thing she has done that provoked the quarrel and promises never, never, never to cross her again.

Many a woman before you, my dear, has floated herself out of a bad situation on a tide of tears. Many a one before you has cried for the moon until she got it. Many a one has found out that hydraulic power is most effective in breaking down a man's morale. But don't you think that tears are a pretty poor, mean, contemptible weapon to use on a man?

Because they are only effective when you use them on a man who loves you and they only work with him because he can't endure to see you make even the gesture of suffering. Have more self-respect than to play such a lowdown game on your father and sweetheart.

DOES HE CARE?

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you tell me if my boy friend really cares for me? I have been going with him for more than five years. Now I am planning to get married to him, but he doesn't seem to do much of the planning with me. He only comes to see me two nights a week, and the balance of the time he goes out with his boy friends to dances and places of amusement. I have given up all of my friends for him. Don't you think we should come to some understanding about marriage? Also, don't you think he should see me oftener? Would it wake him up if I would see other boys?

JOYCE. Answer: It doesn't take any daughter of a seventh daughter to diagnose your boy friend's sentiments. He is tired of you. His love is dead, killed by a long drawn-out engagement, and he is trying to get you to break it off. If you have any self-respect, beat him to it and save your face.

No man on earth who is in love with a girl limits his call to two a week. He is always hanging around her, and the only reason a man isn't enthusiastic in planning his wedding is because he regards it as his funeral. Don't force this poor chap into an unwilling marriage. It will mean misery to you both.

MARRIED YOUNG

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I married when we were barely passed our 18th birthday. We have been married a year and a half now. We began quarrelling on our wedding day and we have been quarrelling ever since. Our love has turned to hate and we are driving each other crazy. We have no children. But here is my problem: I think it would break my mother's heart if I left my husband. Shall I hurt her, or continue to live in misery?

UNDECIDED.

Answer: You are young and your mother is old, so you are the one whose happiness is to be considered first in this matter. Anyway, she can take no great comfort in your marriage if you and your husband are living a cat and dog life together. But instead of getting a divorce, why don't you and your boy husband just separate for two or three years and wait until you grow up before you decide what to do? He may grow up into the sort of a man that you would like to be married to, and you may develop into the sort of a woman who would fascinate him. Who knows?

Soldier Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Aug. 2. (CP)—Sapper Elwood Chartier, 26, of Garrick, Sask., drowned Sunday at nearby Prudhomme Lake when he stepped from a rowboat into a deep hole a few yards from shore. Chartier had left the boat in shallow water to pose for a picture.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is astounding how versatile at avoiding food the child can be if he lacks appetite or finds some foods distasteful to him. He may pretend to chew, because he is expected to do so, but he keeps adding more and more food until his mouth is crammed tight as a drum and then—unable or unwilling to swallow—he spits it all out.

Another child may take a mouthful and chew and chew and then choke and vomit. Or, he may hold food in his cheek, swallowing some, retaining the rest, like a cow chewing his cud. There are all sorts of variation and they do seem to stem from dislike of food, lack of appetite or simply a delayed capacity to chew and swallow "chewy" foods.

There must be a physical reason for less of appetite. Overfeeding will cause it, as will fatigue, or emotional scenes at mealtimes. Until the mother runs down the particular cause the habits of the appetiteless child will go on unchecked.

When certain foods are distasteful to the child, even if the mother considers these silly notions, she will end the bad habit of refusing food more quickly if she will serve the child the foods he likes. Then he will take trouble to chew and

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "I'll give you only a small serving of each food and, if you want more you can have it."

Mother: "You must clean up your plate. Think of all the hungry children there are in the world."

Parents' care in serving food is of greater importance in conserving the nation's food supply than is their insistence that children eat food they neither need nor want.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HOW ARE YOU BREATHING? I don't know why it is necessary to teach school children natural breathing (writes a Public school music supervisor) but it is. Apparently children acquire the artificial chest breathing habit before the fourth grade. Therefore I don't think their music teachers or physical education instructors are responsible, particularly as I know many of my profession who do teach correct breathing. Maybe the primary room teachers, with the best of intentions, start the children off wrong. I don't know. If not—then I guess "natural" breathing does not come natural to a child but must be taught.

(Signed — Music Supervisor, Schools.) Some primary teachers probably share the common notion of the laity that chest expansion is the chief feature of correct breathing. This has been emphasized in nearly all so-called physical training, athletics, military training, and even in the physical education of the yesteryear. It is encouraging to note that it is pretty well ignored or eliminated from the military training of the present day.

Even this music supervisor who evidently knows what he is talking about boggled when it came to belly breathing. Diaphragm breathing, he calls it. The diaphragm is as practically as much concerned in chest breathing as it is in belly breathing. The diaphragm is a muscle stretched across the great body cavity, dividing it into the swallow them. She can ring in changes gradually. When the capacity to chew and swallow has been slow to develop there are several ways to help. First, let the mother demonstrate vigorously the business of chewing the teeth together in a chewing motion and then swallow. As finely chewed food goes down almost automatically, conscientious chewing is the first step in an improvement of the capacity to swallow.

For the child who has difficulty chewing and rapidly grows fatigued when much chewing is demanded, supply foods that are easy to eat and introduce only sufficient of the chewy foods to allow for some exercise of that capacity. Keep the portions of all foods small and allow the child the satisfaction of cleaning up his plate.

It is discouraging to a child to be faced with a plate piled high with food and expected to make way with it. Tiny bite-sized portions of a variety of foods will provide the inspiration to eat and the success which leads to still greater efforts.

Our leaflet, "Poor Appetites," provides more information on the subject of increasing food consumption. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

thorax or chest as it is commonly called and the abdomen. The diaphragm is neither in the thorax or chest nor in the abdomen, but between them. When the diaphragm, the main breathing muscle, contracts, it pushes on the structures in the abdomen—stomach, liver, spleen, intestines, and pushes the belly forward, and draws air into the lungs. When the diaphragm relaxes, its pressure on the structures in the abdomen is removed, the expanded belly which has bulged outward during the inspiration or inhalation deflates, as one might say, and air is expelled from the lungs by the elastic rebound of diaphragm, and this is natural, quiet expiration or exhalation. By voluntary effort still more air may be forced out after the natural quiet expiration, and this brings into play numerous other secondary muscles of breathing as well as the diaphragm.

On request, accompanied with stamped envelope bearing your address, I'll send a copy of the pamphlet "Belly Breathing" which can do no one any harm, may do many invalids or semi-invalids much good.

Minute Make-Ups

To elongate the too-short nose, pencil the eyebrows in the centre but do not bring them any closer together than the width of the nose across the tip. To make the too long nose look less long, pluck the eyebrows if they meet. This nice clean space creates forehead width to divert attention from the nose!

Debunker

From a survey of 508 men of distinction, Dr. Donald A. Laird found that popular notions about sleeping habits of people are false. According to his findings, old people sleep more hours daily than do younger persons—although they more often complain of lying awake at night. Distinguished men do not sleep less than their less famous brothers and actually sleep more. Most of them sleep at least eight hours daily. Another strange fact is that the older people seem to stand the loss of sleep from train rides better than do young men!

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP)—All motor car traffic in Belgium and northern France has been prohibited by Nazi occupation forces effective Aug. 15, the German Transocean Agency said yesterday.

In a Berlin broadcast a similar prohibition on motorcycles will be effective Sept. 1, Transocean said.

Second Boys' Camp At Elk Island

The first period of camping at the YMCA boys' camp at Elk Island concluded on Monday. Some 40 boys returned to the city after spending two weeks at Camp Kewaydwin. Forty-five boys arrived at camp to spend their vacations and these with the addition of those that stayed over from the first period make up a camp population of more than 85.

Those leaving this city Monday for the second camp included Gordon Athey, Lorne Anfinsen, Bob Barker, Don Blackwell, Max Bodker, Bill Bell, George Cadwallader, Billy Cooper, Jack Chesney, Bobby Christie, John Chappel, Tom Chambers, Gordon Duffly, Oakley Dyer, Ray Gill, Jimmy Hanson, Andrew Henning, Pat Henning, Jerry Johnston, Jimmy Kelly, Neil Kelly, Douglas Kirby, Bill Kirtland, Charles P. Harvest Aid Lack Is Forecast Here

There undoubtedly will be a shortage of harvest help in Alberta this fall as in the rest of Canada, Selective Service officials said Wednesday. They expressed hope that rapidly-changing employment conditions would tend to relieve the situation by cutting time.

Officials declared it is impossible to predict with any accuracy just how severe the farm labor shortage will be when harvesting time arrives. But no doubt there will be a shortage, and the problem of getting help for the farmers will be a real one.

Commenting on the use of soldiers and airmen in the harvest fields, one official said this labor would "only be a drop in the bucket" in relation to the thousands of workers required.

Merchants in Saskatchewan have been asked to close their stores on certain days during the harvest season, releasing clerks for the fields. Reports from Manitoba said office workers are volunteering for field work in greater numbers than a year ago, and many women have offered to do anything from housework to pitching sheaves.

CPA Official Is On Annual Tour

C. H. "Punch" Dickens, OBE, DFC, vice-president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, expected to leave Wednesday for Vancouver, continuing an annual scheduled tour of company operating centres.

Mr. Dickens is allocating aircraft and arranging schedules for the coming winter season. Arrangements are being made earlier this season than usual.

All western lines of the company are operating at peak capacity at the present time, he said.

Sports Are Held At Summer Camp

At Camp Keewaydin, the Edmonton YMCA boys' camp at Elk Island National Park, the campers have completed the holding of camp championships. This season the camp is divided into two sections, junior and senior. W. Armour Bull, boys' work secretary of the Edmonton YMCA, is camp director.

In the junior section, the archery championship was won by Jewett, while Pete De Vries was successful in securing top badminton honors. The winner of the popular game of table tennis was Pat Glicker. Horseshoe pitching dexterity won honors for Fred Zake, and Robert Spevakow placed first in the checker tournament. Jack Brown also won a first by winning most points in the basketball accuracy competition.

Senior section winners were: Archery, Randall Murray; badminton, Russell Peterson; table tennis, Casey Tyler; checkers, Jim Bryant; horseshoes, Fred Krook, who also won the basketball championship.

Afternoon programs for campers featured treasure hunts, water sports and races, canoe trips and hikes. Camp will continue until Aug. 21.

Coarse Grains Trade Feature

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Substantial coarse grain business held the spotlight today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Rye futures closed 1/2 cent up over previous closing levels with October at 1.05 1/2, December 1.05 1/2, and May 1.05 1/2.

Declines were chiefly registered in sympathy with a lower trend in Chicago.

License Revenue At All-Time High

Revenue from license fees for the first seven months of 1944 has shattered all records, officials of the city licensing department said Wednesday, in issuing a statement covering operations from Jan. 1 to July 31.

Revenue from all sources obtained by the department totalled $75,385.10 for the period of seven months. The total revenue for the same period in 1943 was $69,941.45.

The new record was set despite a slight drop in revenue for July, when a total of $1,852.20 was obtained against $2,593.70 for last year.

A big increase in the use of bicycles here has taken place.

Revenue from bicycle licenses in the first seven months of the present year totalled $5,645.30 compared to $4,635.70 in the same period of 1943.

More dogs are also wearing tags this year, with $10,365.30 from this source to date this year against an even $10,000 last year.

Total Population Of City 108,416

Edmonton's population is officially 108,416 according to statistics issued by the city Wednesday.

Building permits, bank clearings, street railway passengers carried, earnings of utilities and revenue from most departments all show increases for the first seven months of this year over the corresponding period in 1943.

Population last year at this time was 105,536.

Building permits were for construction worth $3,867,650, against $3,209,780 in 1943.

Bank clearings were $238,658,145 against $196,730,909 and the street railway carried 16,481,008 against 15,054,211 in the first seven months of 1943.

Gross earnings from utilities are also up to $3,679,030 compared to $3,160,476.

Chicago Grain Futures Ease

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(AP)—All grain futures turned downward in late trading today, rye breaking more than a cent from the day's best figures and wheat influenced by the bearish supply picture and the possibility of an early peace in Europe.

The new crop of spring wheat already being marketed by test buyers said holding sales so far have been light.

After holding firm most of the day, oats eased back to near yesterday's closing prices. Profit taking against the upturn in rye and when professional traders developed bearishness found the demand had diminished.

At the close wheat was 1/2 cent lower, oats 1/2 cent lower, rye 1/2 cent lower, and barley unchanged to 1/2 cent higher.

Wheat—Sept. 1.55 1/2; Dec. 1.55 1/2; May 1.55 1/2.

Oats—Sept. 71 1/2; Dec. 69 1/2; May 69 1/2.

Rye—Sept. 1.05 1/2; Dec. 1.05 1/2; May 1.05 1/2.

Cash wheat No. 1 hard 1.58 1/2; soybeans No. 1 yellow 1.94; oats No. 1 mixed 72 1/2.
